Ankleshwar has also cemented its position as the center for industrial exhibitions, having successfully hosted 15 editions of the Ankleshwar Industrial Expo. This expo is recognized as one of the premier industrial events in southern Gujarat, attracting leading companies and industry professionals from across the country. The Ankleshwar Industrial Expo continues to play a pivotal role in driving growth, fostering innovation, and promoting collaboration within the industrial community.

WHY ANKLESHWAR

Ankleshwar Industrial Estate, established by the Gujarat Industrial Development Corporation (GIDC) in the early 1970s, stands as one of the largest and most thriving industrial zones in India. Spanning 1600 hectares, its prime location near National Highway No. 8 and the Delhi-Mumbai Railway Line makes it a hub of industrial activity. Today, this vibrant estate is home to over 2000 industries, encompassing sectors such as chemicals, pesticides, pharmaceuticals, bulk drugs, petroleum products, engineering, textiles, plastics, rubber, and packaging, among others.

Gujarat holds a prominent position, contributing approximately 28% to the country's pharmaceutical exports valued at USD 25 billion, and catering to 30-31% of the domestic market, estimated at an additional USD 25 billion. According to officials of the Indian Drugs Manufacturers Association (IDMA), the region is expected to attract around 300 industries, predominantly SMEs, seeking to establish their operations here.

Ankleshwar is one of the largest industrial estates of small and medium scale chemical industries of Asia. Major chemical complexes of Industrial leaders of the country are located in this region.
